THE BIG SANDY RAILROAD CONNECTION .- On Thursday next, 22d inst., the stockholders in the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad Company will be required to vote upon the proposition to subscribe $100,000 to the capital stock of the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Company. The subscription is to be paid in bonds bearing six per cent. interest and having twenty years to run, but pay. ment is to be made only upon condition that the Big Sandy road shall connect at Lexington directly with the Lonisville and Lexington road and be constructed throughout with the same gauge as that of our and; and besides the payment is not to be made until the Big Sandy road shall be completed to Mt. Sterling in Montgomery county.

The Lexington and Frankfort Company will take a vote to-day upon a similar subscription of $50,-000, and we are gratified to learn that there is a prospect that the subscription will be ordered by an overwhelming vote of the stockholders. We have already, upon several occasions, alluded to the advantages and importance of this connection, not only to the Louisville and Frankfort railroad, but to our whole city. If the extension should furnish to our road only one car-load of freight and four passengers per day, the income therefrom will be sufficient to pay the interest upon the subscription and to provide an ample sinking fund for the payment of the principal at maturity. These subscriptions will contribute very largely to the credit of the Big Sandy road, and in all probability will enable it to progress rapidly to completion, which will give to us even in the antumn, when we presented this subject a direct through route from Louisville, via Rich- to the consideration of our readers, the same alacrity mankfort road a link in the great chain of railroad connection from the Gulf of Mexico and the Southwestern States to the national capital, running entirely through slaveholding States.

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky has recently decided that the subscription of the city of Lexington to the Big Sandy railroad is valid, and thus additional means will be promptly furnished for the construction of that road from Lexington to Mt. Sterling, on which portion of the road a considerable amount of work has already been done.

This connection will open to us a local trade that we have not hitherto enjoyed, and, independent of its giving us a great Sonthern through-route, it will bring a vast amount of new business annually to our city and to our Frankfort road. The completion of the Big Sandy road to Mt. Sterling will most surely guaranty its speedy completion to the mouth this purpose was adopted by the Common Council Miss Emma Alice Brown, and we know that her exof Big Sandy, where it will connect with the Virginia roads already in a state of great forwardness.

secure this connection. Among these not the least | The aid of the city cannot be given to a more useimportant, is the fact that the Big Sandy road will ful or more important and profitable enterprize. The tap the great coal region of Northern Kentucky and whole of the proposed branch road will cost less Southern Virginia, and in seasons of privation, such than is annually paid by Louisville to the citizens of as the present, when our citizons are obliged to go Pennsylvania for coal, and it is demonstrable that to Terre-Haute, Indiana, for fuel, and cannot pro- by this railroad route coal can be furnished to our cure even there a hundredth part of what is necessary for our actual wants, a railroad to the coal paid by them for Pittsburg coal. Such access to on fields of Northern Kentucky and Southern Virginia would indeed be a God-send. We would thus be preserved from the great amount of expense and suffering to which we are so frequently exposed by the low-water and ice in the Ohio river.

It is true that it will be much more to the interest of our citizens to secure a railroad connection with the middle coal-fields of Kentucky, and we hope, and indeed have reason to believe, that this will be done with all possible dispatch, but in the meantime let us secure this Big Sandy connection, which can now be done very easily, without any expense and even without risk, for the subscription is not payable until the road is completed to Mt. Sterling, and the business brought to the Frankfort road from the connection and extension will many times over repay the ame of principal and interest long before the bonds given in payment will mature. We understand that the poll will be continu more than one day, but we earnestly urge every stockholder to deposit his vote in favor of the proposition promptly upon Thursday. It should be remembered that all the stock not voted will be counted against the proposition. Let there be no indifference or forgetfulness in this matter. The interests involved are very great, and the adoption of the resolution will do more to increase in value and render profitable the stock of the Louisville and Frankfort Company than anything that has yet been suggested. Those who are unable or unwilling to come forward and vote their stock in person can vote by sending their proxies for that purpose to the president or any of the directors of the company or by any other person who will deposit the

[For the Louisville Journal.] THE WIND TO THE SWAN. BY HENRY T. HARRIS. As hnngry doves feed on fresh olive leaves, So feed my wind-lips on thy filmed eyes. I am the organ music of the wood Of which old poets in their lofty rhyrues Have sung. I am the singing poetry That lifts the ash-leaves on the mountain-slope, Or dash the dew-drop from the light hare-bell I met thee once upon a lakelet's breast— Thou the wild swan and I tho music wind That stirred the down upon thy snowy plume O'er that calm lake the crescent moon hung pale "As stricken mourner at the tomb of hope, And ere I parted from thy sylph-like eide To visit Tinian isle, or sing upon To visit Tinian tile, or sing upon Sea-rushes growing round the mermaid's home,
Its silver horn was trembling in the wave,
And darkness gathered o'er that wide, wild waste
When it had sunk into its watery bed,

Night passed, and Morning from her rosy couch Came up with gold and purple on her wings— Each mountain-peak that over-looked the lake Grew splendid in the Morning's yellow sheen The dolphins darted from their liquid homes To gaze awhile on thee, then backward sank Within their watery element to tell How on their marmuring kingdom floated wild A snow-white swan with head beneath her wings-

And thou hadst folded up thy spotless wings To rest in quiet like a lonely star Upon the deep, dark midnight of the world!

Bold ships with sails White as thy appollated pinlons flew Before my breath like things of real life, And o'er us, in the trackless fields of blue, And o erus, in the tractice neids of Dide,
White cloude hung massive as the sapphire gates
That wall the palace where the Naiads sleep!
I'll bathe thy forehead with the shining dew
That turned to nectar on the saw-flag's lips,
And stir the ripples round thy downy breast To speed thy way across the waters wildi

We'll stray together-thou the beauteous bird To tell of summer days where night comes not, But round the rushes of thy polar home Pale twilight lingers with her gray-fringed veil; And I to tell of rich, undying blooms That crown the vernal belts far up in air Beyond the Fagle's boldest flight where man With daring foot ne'er climbs to pluck the flowers Prom Himmalaya's heaven-ascending top! COAL-RAILROADS-ACTION OF CITY COUNCIL -About a year ago we called the attention of our citizens to the importance of securing a railroad connection with the coalfields adjacent to the route of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and again, during the last autumn, in view of the difficulty of procuring a supply of coal by the Ohio river, which for the last several years has indeed been "dry one half the year and frozen the other half," we urged the importance of the construction of a branch of the Nashville road to the coal fields of Grayson county, not only on account of the convenience of obtaining coal when the navigation of the Ohio should be obstructed, but as a matter of economy at all seasons, because by this means the vast sums of money annually paid by Louisville to the coal dealers and coal miners of Pennsylvania would be expended within our own State, and among a people by whom they would be immediately returned to us in the course of trade. If our suggestions a year ago had been promptly acted npon we might ere this time have had a railroad connection with the Grayson coal fields almost if not quite complete, and if mond, Va., to Washington city, and will make our had been manifested which is now beginning to be suffering endured here at present on account of the scarcity of coal would never again be experienced.

We are gratified to find that the City Council has at last acted upon this subject and that the extreme severity of the weather and the scarcity of coal have awakened even the slowest of the city newspapers to the importance of such a railroad connection with the nearest coal fields in Kentucky, as we recommended several months ago.

On Saturday we published, in the proceedings of the City Council, an excellent report on this subject both in prose and poetry are exceedingly fine. The edimade by Messrs, Monsarrat and Baird, recommending an appropriation for a survey for such a branch road as we had already indicated as essential to the interests of fortunate enough to be able to engage the services Louisville. A resolution appropriating $1,000 for and will doubtless be sanctioned by the Board of Aldermen at its next session. We hope that Messrs. Monsarrat and Baird, who are the committee from whom this report to the Common Council emanated, will vigorously press the subject upon the attention of the General Council. Their efforts will be sustained by the whole population until all the measures necessary for the construction of a branch from the Louisville and Nashville railroad to the coal mines of Grayson and other counties in this State shall be completed.

The total sum of the police operations in the city yesterday consisted in the arrest of two drunken Irishmen who had been drinking liquor and buying bread near the jail without paying. An idiotic man was also arrested.

LOUIS NAPOLEON AND THE SWISS .- Our readers are aware that Louis Napoleon, vexed at the "deplorable obstinacy" of the Swiss Republic in declining to yield, at his request, to Prussia's insolent and peremptory demands in the pending dispute between the two governments, threatens petulantly to leave the gallant Swiss to their fate. Although there is really no sort of probability that the French Emperor intends to execute this threat, simply because he dare not do it, it has nevertheless called out some justly scathing comments from the public press on either side of the Atlantic. It is, indeed, a most heartless and contemptible menace. When, after the notorious affair of Strasbourg, Louis Philippe demanded the expulsion of Louis Napoleon from the Swiss territory, the government of the Republic, as is well-known, spurned the demand with a generous fidelity to the obligations of hospitality which extorted from the refugee, at the time, the most signal and grateful acknowledgment. Said he, in that style of tacit grandiloquence which his later fortune has redeemed from utter bombast:

later fortune has redeemed from utter bombast;

Switzerland has demonstrated, for a month, by the energetic protests, and now by the decision of the Great Councils which have assembled up to the present time, that she was prepared to make the greatest ascrifices for the maintenance of her dignity and her right, she has done her duty as an independent nation. I shall perform unine, and remain faithful to the voice of houor. I may be persented, but I shall never be dishonored. The French government having declared that the refusal of the diet to comply with its demand would be the signal of a conflagration of which Switzerland might become the victim, it only remains for me to quit a country where my presence is the pretence for such great calsmittes. I shall never forget the noble conduct of the cantons, who declared so courageously in my favor, and in particular the recollection of the generous hospitality accorded me by the canton of Thursovia will remain profoundly engraven on my heart. I trust that this separation may not be ternal, and that a day may come when I shall, without compromising the interests of two nations which ought to remain friends, recover the asylum where a residence of 20 years and acquired rights have created for me a second country.

Yet, now, in the height of his power, and the

Yet, now, in the height of his power, and the depth of his atrocious ingratitude, this graceless adventurer threatens to give Switerland over to the tender mercies of her enemies, because, contrary to his wish and advice, she still resolves to do "her duty as an independent nation," and to maintain, at all hazards, "her dignity and her rights." A sovereign who in his own person has no more respect for the decencies to say nothing of the graces of manhood than this deserves to be upset and thrown among the waste things of bistory on the earliest practicable occasion. And, if consistent with the best interests of France, we shall be happy to see him get what he deserves.

NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW .- The January number of the North American will hardly set the world on fire, though it is but just to its contributors to say, that, on a searching inspection, it is evident they had no such incendiary design. Its pages, however, if not altogether fascinating, are not by any means destitute of interest. The North American, though often dull, is always respectable. "liespectable" is the word. Among the most instructive articles in the current number is the initial one on Robin Hood, which opens up a profitable vein of historical reflection, and works it ingeniously; the article on the history of the Danish Sound Dues and of the controversy respecting them, in view of which the writer concludes very properly that the Pierce administration has made an ass of itself and a victim of the country; that on the "Results of the Arctic Search," which are shown to be valuable if not exactly triumphant; and especially the article on "Landscape and its Treatment," in which sound views are both forcibly and elegantly elaborated. The "Critical Notices" are crude and slovenly, as

The New York Commercial Advertiser thinks that the Paris Congress will take the subject of privateering into consideration, notwithstanding the repeated and explicit declarations of the London and Parisian journals to the contrary, because, al though foreign to the professed object of the congress, it is not more so or so much so as it was to that of its predecessor, which yet considered it and acted upon it. The Advertiser, however, overlooks the fact that the present congress is composed of second plenipotentiaries, and is therefore inferior to its predecessor both in point of dignity and power. It the former congress, and obviously cannot trascend them without violating the very law of its constitution. This it will hardly do. We should rather incline to think that a new and independent congress would be called to dispose of all the remaining unsettled matters now upon the tapis.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE. - We have received the February number of Graham's Illustrated magazine, and a sterling number it is. Its engravings are nnmerous and striking, and its literary articles tor's "Easy Talk" is most capital in its way-embracing every style of agreeable writing. We perceive that the liberal and enterprising proprietor has been of that truly wonderful young American poetess, quisite contributions will be eagerly looked for in every number. The proprietor deserves great credit for his generous encouragement of the best literary

ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS .- Within a few days past the following U.S. Senators have been elected for six years from the 4th of March next, viz: Stephen Il. Mallory, Democrat, of Florida; Chas. Sumner, Republican, of Massachusetts; Jas. F. Simmons, Republican, of Rhode Island, vice James, Democrat; Simon Cameron, Republican, of daily. Contracts have been made with Mr. J. Robb Pennsylvania, vice Brodhead, Democrat; Zachariah for a supply of fuel, to continue during the cold sea-Chandler, Republican, of Michigan, vice Lewis Cass, Democrat; Jas. S. Green and Trusten Polk, of Missouri, vice Atchison and Geyer; and James A Bayard and John W. Bates, of Delaware.

The Boston Transcript states that a letter re ceived in that city by a friend of Dr. Kane gives information direct from his family, and confirms the unfavorable statements recently made. One of his brothers, on receiving news of his departure from England, left to meet him in Cuba, although he was not then thought to be dangerously ill. But on the 5th inst. such alarming intelligence arrived that his mother left immediately for Havana. His disease is inflammatory rheumatism, contracted o his first Arctic voyage, and from which he was suf fering severely when he sailed the second time.

The loss of Mr. Lintner in his lumber yard by the fire on Monday night was $1500 on which he had no insurance.

PROF. DANA'S LECTURE.-We were much pleased to find a large and intelligent andience at Mozart been grievously afflicted during the past few days. Hall on Saturday evening last, the weather being so Those belonging to drays, hacks, and private vehivery disagreeable as to render it exceedingly inconvenient for many to attend.

The lecturer opened with a graphic description of the animals and plants in their order of succession as shown in the rocks, commencing with the silurian system and embracing all to the beginning of the tertiary. This, the last of the great geological epochs, was emphatically the age of mammals. During that era huge elephants and mastodon scoured the forests in search of food. The sloth tribes, as represented by the megatherium, whose feet were a yard long, the megalonyx and glyptodon, who rival the armadillo of the present day, the palæotherium (the tapir of our times), elk, bears, hyenas, and other wild animals which are still extant, inhabited the forests, plains and caves of the preadamic world. A comparison of their remains with animals of the present day prove incontestibly the fact of their degradation in size or alteration of types ere the world was fitted for man. When this great event did come to pass, when God saw that it was good to make man, man stepped in the king of all mimate nature, and found the earth fitted for his convenience and pleasure by an all-seeing, all-knowng Creator.

The lecture was closed by a very pretty tribute to the truths of the gospel, though but little was said concerning its connection with science. We feel confident Mr. Dana's sphere of usefulness does not extend to the public lecture room, and though a beautiful writer, and a man of the highest order of scientific attainments, he cannot make such an impression on a public audience as one far less versed in the subjects he attempts to discourse.

FINE ENGRAVING. - Messrs. Robyn & Co., on Third street, near the corner of Market, have just produced a new style of acceptances, promissory notes, and checks, which are well worthy of the examination of our business men. They pessess varions desirable advantages, and surpass any blanks of the kind we have ever seen. Indeed, they approach very nearly in finish and general excellence to steel and copper engraving.

This lithographic establishment is one of great extent, and has facilities few others in the West pos sess. In every description of engraving it is capable of producing the finest work, and the proprietors, who are artists of taste, deserve the encouragement of our citizens in their efforts to supply the wants of our mercantile community.

MISS DORA SHAW .- This very talented artiste will make her first appearance at our Theatre this evening. She is well known to many of our citizens as an elegant and accomplished lady, and her friends here have long been anxious to see her in the profession which she has adorned with her genius and in which she has already become a star of the greatest brilliancy. Her brief career in the new vocation she has chosen has been one of uninterrupted triumph, and we are sure that her first engagement in Louisville will but add new flowers to the wreath that has been placed upon her fair brow by the severest critics who have witnessed her representations, and will be made the proudest of all her professional triumphs.

THE WATER WORKS .- We publish to-day a communication from "Civis" upon the location of the water-works, engine-house, and reservoir. The interrogatories of "Civis" are pertinent. We are not informed in the premises, but our citizens have a right to know whether the locations are in accordance with economy, and whether they are sustained by the report of the engineer. The people of Lonisville are largely interested in the proper conduct of this enterprise, and a mistake in the location of the reservoir may involve the city in a great deal of unnecessary expense and serious difficulties in future. We have heard many inquiries in relation to this affair, and public anxiety should be allayed.

THE WEATHER .- The weather was very cold yess confined strictly to the questions referred to it by terday, but it was moderating somewhat last night. Onr thermometer at 7 o'clock yesterday morning stood 9 degrees below zero, at 12 yesterday 10 above, at 6 last evening 8 above, and at 12 last night 10 above. The barometer is falling. The ferryboat was running again last evening.

It will be seen from our dispatches that the weather has been severely cold East, and that a tremendous snow storm has occurred, which has interrupted all railread communication.

HENRY COUNTY CATTLE .- One of the finest spec mens of the cattle genus of which we have ever heard, was a two-year old heifer, raised and fattened by Mr. R. H. Thomas, of Henry county. He sold it a few days since, and its weight was ascertained to be fifteen hundred and eighty pounds. This is far over the average of the Blue grass cattle, and demonstrates that this region is as susceptible to the rearing of fine stock as any other in our State. Proper care and cultivation at the hands of breeders is alone required.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND FUEL .- We regret to learn that the exercises of the two High Schools are suspended during a portion of the day in consequence of the lack of fuel. The Board of Trustees have however provided for an adequate supply for the use of the various common schools. Each school uses about one cord per day, making a total of eight cords son, at $4 50 per cord.

fore existed in that State.

The Jefferson street Baptist church of this city has raised the sum of $2,700 for the purchase of a lot upon which to erect a new house of worship.

SUFFERING HORSE-FLESH .- The poor horses have cles have been obliged to keep up the regular rontine of service; while the unfortunate animals kept at livery stables have suffered from untold wrongs sinse the snow-fall. The sleigh-bells jingle merrily along the streets day and night, but they only ring out misery to the toiling, over-driven, gaunt steeds. The boys enjoy the sport, and the gay belles laugh happily, while the stable-keeper pockets his fees and chinks the coin with unqualified satisfaction. They never think of muscles that are overstrained, of stiffened limbs, and half frozen bodies. It is only a brute they are putting to torment, and why consider its interest? Thus the funny fellows reason, if they ever indulge in that logical process.

We are by no means mawkish in our sentimentality, but we hope we are considerate, and hence these few words in behalf of suffering horse-flesh.

A BEAUTIFUL BANNER-INTERESTING TO FIRE-MEN.—There may be seen at Mesers. Evarts & Murton's, Main street, a very beautifully painted banner, designed for a Fire Company. It is the work of Mr. J. G. Ashmer, one of the members of the theatrical corps, and a gentleman who adds to his histrionic talent very considerable artistic taste. This banner is emblematic, and would be borne with pride at the head of any body of firemen.

Mr. Ashmer, who takes a benefit next Monday night, intends to present this elegant banner to that fire company the members of which purchase the largest number of tickets. It is a prize worthy of the most earnest competition, and will doubtless excite very considerable rivalry among the gallant Ronnery-On Saturday evening just after dusk some person entered Gross' grocery store, at the corner of Broadway and Fifth streets, and stele the money drawer. It was afterwards found in the yard of officer Benson, with its contents, consisting of two pistols and a breastpin. Only forty-five cents had been stolen.

A proposition to increase the legal rate of inerest to ten per cent, has been introduced in the Indiana legislature.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The proceedings in the Circuit Court yesterday were possessed of but limited interest and importance. The cases of Wm. Early for manslanghter and Elias D. Lawrence for shooting at R. F. Baird were coutinued. James Lynch, for stealing a flatboat load of potaoes from Henry Murray, forfeited his recognisance, and his case was continued. The case of A. McCoy for counterfeiting was con-

Mr. Benson, of the steamer Monongahela, furnishes the following account of the mishaps which that steamer had met with:

The Monongalela shipped a lot of stock and other freight at Heuderson—then came down to Mt. Vernon, and took on board 2,500 sacks corn, 1,000 sacks wheat, a lot of eats, and 60 head of stock—thence she descended to Uniontown, where she received 30 she descended to Uniontown, where she received 30 head of inules, and 53 head of calves. After leaving the latter port she unfortunately grounded on the bar at Wabash Island—laid there twelve hours. She worked hard to get off, but the ice was running so heavy as to deem it impossible to extricate her.

She linally lighted off by throwing 1,000 sacks of corn overboard, when a high field of ice broke her under stalk and tillar, the host fattire some two

She after-wards came through Hurricane Island chute, and ran into the gorge below, in hopes of working through, but "stuck," or froze in the gorge. She was lying perfectly straight in the ice, when Mr. Benson left, in twelve feet water. The mules were taken ashore and started through for Hickman by the overland route. The cattle were still on board

THE RAINBOW .- We have already contradicted the report that this steamer was injured by ice, but publish the following:

Steamer Rambor, Jan. 13, 1867.)
GENTLEMEN: In your paper of yesterday you learn, by letter from Evansville, that the steamer Rambow had been injured by the loe, and all hands were hard at work trying to save her; all of which is as false as false can be. The Rambow left Portland on the 2d of January and proceeded to Stephensport. We found the ice making pretty fast, when we landed and sheathed her bow with heavy oak when we landed and sheathed her bow with heavy oak plank and then continued our trip to Batterville, five miles plank and then continued our trip to Batterville, five miles when we isnded and sheathed her bow with heavy oak plank and then continued our trip to Batesville, five miles below Troy, where we laid up all night, and built a heavy crib; and proceeded to Bon Harbor, next day, rive miles below Ovensboro', where we are now lying in perfect safety, not having been lajnned a particle. Everybody on board well and the boat as good as ever.

You will please correct the statement in your valuable paper, and, by so doing, very much oblige.

Moet respectfully yours, &c.,

Severai of the heads of the different railroad divisions met at the Captain's house, and Mr. M. Shea, in behalf of the different employees and repair hands on said road, in a nest and appropriate address, presented him with a splendid hunting-case gold watch and gold breast-chain, with this inscription:

"Presented by the repair hands of the Louisville." "Presented by the repair hands of the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad to Gapt. R. Tailaferro, as a token of their friendship and esteem."

STATE OF MINNESOTA.—The committee on territories have agreed to report a bill to authorize the people of Minnesota, to form a constitution and State government. -ITEMS OF CALIFORNIA NEWS .- They are having a comet all to themselves in California. The Sacramento News has a communication from Professor Lauriat, the distinguished Æronaut, formerly of Boston, who informs them that "he saw, about 3 o'clock in the morning, the comet, the appearance of which was noticed some time since. When he saw it, it was a few degrees sonth of west. The head or ancleus had snnk below the horizon, but between five and six degrees, apparently, of the comet was distinctly perceptible. He viewed it some ten or fifteen minutes before it disappeared below the horizon." The San Francisco Alta California

This sea-serpent of the upper deep seems to show his tail to the people of the interior; but nobody around this office has got a glimpse of the comet as yet. An enthusiastic star-struck youth saw it the other morning from "a heaven-kissing hill" near Sutter. The eminences hereabouts don't bring us within sight of the brilliant but rare visitant.

A horseback elopement is something rare, even in California. The Marysville Herald thus describes one which recently occurred in that city:

A woman, well-dressed and pretty, rushes across the Plaza toward the corner of First and E streets, where stands a man with a steed duly caparisoned. The man mounts, and, helping the woman on behind him, makes with lightning speed south on the Sacramento road. Almost immediately another man, well-mounted, is seen in hot pursuit. The woman was heard to exclaim, "I'm glad I escaped him."

The Herald, in a subsequent issue, says that the parties have since made it right with the "old gentleman.'

One Anastacia Garcia is under indictment at Monterev for no less than six murders, as follows: For the murder of Isaac B. Wall: for the murder of Thomas Williamson; for the murder of Joaquin de la Torre: for the mnrder of Charles Davton; and the fifth for the murder of an Indian. There is also an indictment against him for the murder of Constable Hardmount in 1854. He will have to be in extremely good luck to get clear of all of these charges.

A State Temperance Society has been fully organized in California, and is to have an annual meeting at Sacramento Feb. 20. There appears to be plenty of work in that State for such a society.

A Chinese couple, according to the Sonora Herald. were married in Jamestown, Tuolumne county, Nov. 26, by A. B. Preston, Esq., Mr. Ah Sung to Miss Sung Ho. The interesting couple are from the Celestial Empire, and what adds to the interest of the match is, that it was a sort of runaway affair, the female having been run offfrom another "John." who pretended to have some claim to her person. The course of true love runs no smoother in the Celestial land than in the terrestrial deminions.

An "inexhaustible" copper mine has been discovered in Hope Valley, Sierra Nevada Range. The Alta California says:

This mine is situated directly on the great high way of travel between Placerville and Carson Valley; and, if the Carson route is selected for the State wagon-road, must, in time, prove exceedingly val-uable. The day may not be far in the future when teams, laden with copper ore dug out of the bowels of these mountains, may be seen daily in transitu for the settlements of the valley and the sea-board.

appearance of the hunter, seldom allowing him to come within half a mile. The Indians clothe them-selves in deer skins, with the horns on, and gradu-ally work toward the herd, like a straggling ani-mal, feeding leisurely along. After getting within gun or bow shot, the hunter pretty generally secures

Another plan—they set the woods on fire on one side of the valley, which drives the game to the other side, where the bark ropes are stretched along the brow of the hill, with here and there gateways over to let the dear pass through. open to let the deer pass through. The Indians lie concealed near the passages, and shoot the deer a they edge along the rope to find the end. They will not attempt to jump over unless hurried. In this way they entrap their prey. This information will not be new to mountaineers, though it may be to others.—Sacramento (Cul.) State Journal.

THE CHURCH REVIEW .- The January number of this Quarterly is on a level with its predecessors. It is perfectly orthodox, and perfectly stupid. We, however, have read the article on the Rev. James Murdock, unworthy as it is in point of style, with deep interest. The conductor of the Review is, we believe, the son-in-law of Dr. Murdock, and, though acarcely fitted by nature to adequately appreciate the character of that truly great and good man, pays, nevertheless, an affectionate and admiring tribute to his memory. Our own personal recollections of Dr. Murdock serve to render us impatient under the frigidity and tameness of his well-meaning eulogist. He was certainly one of the most exactly and variously informed as well as one of the most just, liberal, and guileless persons we have ever known. He was among the manliest and the gentlest of men. We hope that in proper time his character and achievements will be commemorated by some one capable of doing justice to both. In the mean time, we advise those who are responsible for the literary character of the Church Review to sacrifice something to the graces of art if they have any regard for the graces of their readers.

RAILROAD TRAVELERS' HEAD AND SIDE REST. Mr. S. P. Kittle, of Buffalo, has invented a "head and side rest" for railroad passengers. The Buffalo Commercial says it is a very neat and handsome contrivance, which is equally well adapted to any form of car-seat, and may be placed in at least half a dozen different positions about the seat. It enables the passenger to lay his head down upon an easy cushion, and if he has an entire seat he can fix for a nap as comfortably as in his bed at home. The thing is indescribable, but simple. It must be seen to be appreciated. It is cheap, costing from $2 to $5, and may be folded up so as to go into a satchel.

CALIFORNIA BONDS.—The news of the decision of the Supreme Court of California in relation to the State Bonds caused a decline of those securities last week in Wall street of ten per cent. But this decision is not repudiation, and, judging from the almost unanimous tone of the press, there is very little cause for apprehending that there will be anything like repudiation by the people.

THE VARIETIES.

Singular Liquor Case in Woburn, Mass .. - An Irish boy, only eight years of age, named Owen Hoy, was last week sentenced by Justice Nelson, of Woburn, Mass., to pay $10 and costs and be confined in the House of Correction for three months for selling liquor. He had been convicted of six distinct Ann Hoy, the mother of the boy, says the Herald of that place, was convicted on a charge of selling liquor in October last, and is now serving a sentence in the House of Correction for that offense. Since his mother's imprisonment, the youngster has attended to the business, some of the time selling upwards of a barrel of rum a week.

A Pickpocket at a Consecration .- At a consecra tion on the 23d ult. of a new church in London, just after the Bishop of London had taken his seat, a person attired in the garb of a clergyman appeared at the door and demanded admittance. He gave his name as the Rev. Mr. Blackthorn, and was conducted to the place appropriated to his "clerical brethren." He was almost immediately recognized, however, by several officers who were present, as a noted pickpocket. Finding that he was discovered, the pseudo clergyman left the premises with all convenient speed.

Coincidence.-The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American, speaking of the distressing death of Judge Daniel's wife, says: "It is a singular coincidence in connection with this sad calamity that the first wife of Judge Daniel died from fright occasioned by a fire in the vicinity of their residence in Richmond, and that the clergyman who preached the funeral sermon lost his wife by fire. just fourteen years ago yesterday.

The British Home Secretary has formally notified Frenchman named De Chatelain, who was naturalized in England in 1848, that "no certificate or other act of naturalization granted by the British Government to an alien places him beyond the lawful power and control of his native country, unless he have received from the government of such country a certificate of denationalization, or been released from his original obligations as a subject or citizen in some other legal way."

One Hundred Dollars a Drink .- There is a case nov pending in the superior Court, in which the plaintiff, Barnabas B. Bayley, seeks to recover for services as Barnabas B. Bayley, seeks to recover for services as a singer while engaged by Ossian E. Dodge. The defendant refuses to pay for these services because there was an agreement that if the complainant used ardent spirits he should forfeit $100 for each drink; and the defendant alleges that the plaintiff has used ardent spirits five separate times, and claims as a set-off $500. If the plaintiff loses the case he had better exhibit himself as the man that paid $100 each for five drinks.—Boston Times. each for five drinks .- Boston Times.

TELEGRAPHIC ENTERPRISE. -The New York Herald correspondent says there will be a memorial and application made to Congress in a few days, by competent parties, to lay a telegraphic cable from the eastern coast of Maine to the coast of Ireland, for the same sum that is asked from this government by other parties, without asking anything from the English government.

STRANGE CASE.—There is at the Sixth Ward A STRANGE CASE.—There is at the Sixth Ward Station House, a young Scotch woman who was taken there on Wednesday night, on the double charge of being a lunatic and of having committed malicious mischief. The Lieutenant of the ward became convinced, during yesterday, that there was no foundation for the charge, for the girl was perfectly sane. Her story is that some two or three years since she went as a domestic into the employments. since she went as a domestic into the employme the keeper of a public house in this city. The pub-lican took his employee out of the kitchen after a time, and gave her a more equivocal position in his household.

To get rid of her she was arrested and taken before an Alderman and charged with being a lunatic. Without any other evidence than the testimony of the publican, the girl was sent to the Insane Asylum of the Blockley Almstone it was seen discovered that here house, where it was soon discovered that she was

The chief resident physician of the institution then took her into his kitchen as a domestic, and she remained in that situation until recently. She then obtained a place at service, where she continued for a time. Mecting her old employer—the publican—he again proposed to take her to his house. She acceded to the arrangement, and remained with him until he again turned her away to make room for a rival. The discarded girl, who is completely infatuated with the man, committed a triding indiscretion for the purpose of annoying her rival.

For this she was arrested and taken to the Station House hy her old employer and an ex-police officer, with the understanding that she was to be taken back to the Alms House as a lunatic. This morning the prosecutor dropped the case on receiving an intimation that he was laying himself open to a obtained a place at service, where she continued for

CARSON VALLEY-POLYGAMY .- Mr. Morrill, from the Committee on Territories, in the House of Repsentatives, has given notice of his intention to make the following report:

The Committee on Territories, to whom were referred the petition of the citizens of Carson Valley, Utah Territory, praying for the annexation of that part of Utah Territory to the State of California, together with the hill to change the eastern boundary of the State of California, have had the same under consideration, and report as follows, viz:

That it appears that the petitioners are situated 800 miles from Salt Lake City; that their business 800 miles from Salt Lake City; that their business and commercial relations are entirely with the State of California, and they are not Mormons and do not wish to be. They represent that the Territorial laws are not administered with justice, but that those who are not Mormons, and are not "zealously affected" toward that faith, are subjected to gross persecutions, by which they are often impoverished, and that the will and fanaticism of the leading elders bear heavily upon the "Gentile minority" in the Territory of Utah.

The petition of the ladies represents that while

Territory of Utah.

The petition of the ladies represents that while there are but three or four Mormon families in the Carson Valley, yet Elder Orson Hyde is made the probate judge of their county, and that he brings among them one of his "spiritual wives," whom they regard as no better than the "scarlet lady," expecting, when the judge introduces her as his wife, that they will associate with her; but that they look with disgust upon the prospect of raising up their daughters among such associates, and they up their daughters among such associates, and they ardently desire that their homes in their pleasant valley shall not be "defiled" by the "horrible fanaticism" and "deception" of Mormonism.

To what extent the evils complained of by the petitioners of Carson Valley exist, the committee have little accurate information, but it is notocious have little accurate information; but it is notorious that similar grievancee have been published as prevalent in other portions of Utah; and, if they exist in Carson Valley, which is scarcely to be doubted, it may fairly be presumed that their force and offensiveness is not diminished where the sway of the Morron elders is supported by an overwhelmof the Mormon elders is supported by an overwhelming majority, and where the ecclesiastical leaders have the unlimited control over the political, civil, and religions action of their devotees.

To grant the prayer of the petitioners, or, in other words, to pass the bill "to change the eastern boundary of the State of California," would only extirate a small portion of the evil complained of. It appears to your committee that some measure of ider scope is necessary to effect a radical cure of the inoral and political pestilence which makes Utah the scandal of the American people. Such a meas-nre is now on the caleudar—the bill for "the prevention and punishment af polygamy"—and there is no legislation more earnestly demanded. Furthermore, the State of California is already too large, and should not, in the opinion of the Committee, be made still more unwieldy by a further ex-tension of its boundaries. We therefore report the bill to the House with the recommendation that it do

THE BANK FAILURES .- The Bank of Attica and THE BANK FAILURES.—The Bank of Attica and the Gramercy Bank, together with four Illinois Banks, have failed during the past week. Their failure has not only involved a loss to the immediate bill-holders, but it is said that the Auditor of the State and his securities will actually lose $45,— 000. The facts in the case seem to be about these: There were deposited with the Auditor $66,000 worth of Bonds to secure the redemption of the bills of the Gramercy Bank and Bank of Attica. Mr. E. F. Nexsen, who, up to within ten days, had borne a high character as a man of integrity and lusiness canacity, was the owner and controller of borne a high character as a man of integrity and business capacity, was the owner and controller of these Banks. Some time ago he became embarrassed and resorted to the following means to extricate himself, which, had they proved successful, would have stamped him one of the best financiers in the State; failing, however, it has covered him with disgrace: He purchased the controlling interest in the new Branch Bank at Bedford, and gave bills on New York for the payments. To meet these he expected to use the funds of the new branch, which would go into operation about the 1st inst. He then took the deposits of the Gramercy Bank to pay up his stock in the Branch Bank at Bedford, and in order to replace the deposit money drew up seven certificates of deposit and got them surrepti-tiously endorsed, which he took to Mr. II. E. Tal-bot, Auditor of State, to deposit as collateral secu-rity for the return of the $66,000 of Bouds, stating to the Auditor that he wished to exchange bonds. The following is a copy of the certificate:

LAFAYETTE, Jan. 1857.

E. F. NEXSEN, Pres't.

C. M. WHEELOCK, Cashier. He then sold the bonds in this city and Louisville to the amount of $45,000 and hypothecated the bal-The Branch Bank, owing to delay in getting her bills signed, did not get into operation as soon as Mr. Nexsen expected, and consequently his New York Bills of Exchange for the purchase of the controlling interest were returned to Lafavette protested. This excited the suspicions of the depositors, and, in order to meet them, he used the proceeds of the bonds and money borrowed of the Old Bank at Bedford, and some $20,000 of the money of the New Bank. The Cashier at Bedford, becoming suspicious, communicated these proceedings to the board, which took prompt measures to ferret matter, Mr. Nexsen was met at Lafayette and made to resign the Presidency of the Bedford Bank and make an assignment of the effects of the Gran-ercy Bank, and to transfer to the Bedford branch $20,000 of his stock in that Branch, to make good

It now appears that he had not deposited in the Gramercy Bank the $66,000, as he represented to the Auditor, and had obtained the endorsement to the certificate fraudulently.

Had the Branch Bank gone into operation on the first of January, Mr. Nexsen would in all probability have been able, by his control of the Bedford Bank, to meet all his obligations, return the securities to the Auditor, and eventually come out safe. But the fates were against him; he failed and is dis-

It seems that here was a man with little or no capital controlling seven banks, and had been doing so for several years successfully. So good was his credit that he obtained his bends from the State Auditor for the mere asking. Surely our people will now reflect and take warning that the security of the bill holder is indeed doubtful; and we would advise them not to take the money of any of them nnless they know they are owned by resident bankers, men of capital, experience, and undoubted integrity; men who, independent of any deposited security— for that is now doubtful—can and will redeem their notes to the last dollar upon presentation.

Ole Bull vs. Cowon.—This case was tried in the Supreme Court yesterday. Suit was brought by plaintiff to recover the value of a diamond pin. The defendant is said to be a gentleman of landed pro-perty in the interior of Pennsylvania; and when Ole Bull came to the United States with the intention of settling, he became acquainted with the defendant, and loaned to him several diamond rings, snuff-boxes, and a breastpin, for some purposes which did not clearly appear. The plaintiff, finding the denot clearly appear. The plaintiff, finding the de-fendant at the Metropolitan Hotel, made a formal application for the return of the pin, which at first was not complied with, but, the present suit being brought, and the defendant served with the writ, the pin was surrendered to the deputy sheriff. FIRE AND ATTEMPTED ROBBERY .- The alarm of fire about 1 o'clock, last night, mentioned in this morning's Journal, proceded from the jewelry store of Mr. J. Esterle, on Fourth street, near Market. A yourg man sleeping in the back room was aroused abon' an hour before by a species of noise that resembled the gnawing of a rat. He arose, and discovering nothing, he retired, to be awoke again almost suffocated with smoke. It appears that a party of thieves had entered the cellur and attempted to effect an entrance by boring through the floor. Being unable to accomplish their purposes they fired the building. Almost all the woodwork in the store was destroyed, and the fine ware, jewelry, &c., was damaged beyond repair. Fortunately a great many of the most costly articles were in the safe and escaped injury.

We understand that Mr. Esterle had an insurance on his stock to the amount of $5,000.

THE BIG SANDY CONNECTION. - This morning the stockholders of the Lexington and Frankfort Railroad Company adopted by a very large majority the resolution to subscribe $50,000 to the capital stock of the Lexington and Big Sandy road. [From the Havana Correspondent of the N. Y. Mirror.] Our citizens have been no more objects of attention from the officers of the Wabash than they have been from them. Don Rafael Castro de Palomino, late city tax collector, has fled to parts unknown, supposed to the U. States. He is a defaulter to an amount said to exceed $200,000. He is now being cited through the official Gazette, to appear at the Royal Jail here, to clear himself of the charges against him, he being assured by the Government at the same time that justice will be done him; but I guess he will be like the Irishman, who, when arraigned at the bar for trial and becoming uneasy in mind as to the result. the frishman, who, when arraighed at the bat to the result, rial, and becoming uneasy in mind as to the result, was told by his counsel to be calm, that justice would be rendered him, whereupon Pat replied:—
"Faith, and that is jist what I am afraid of." And so I think Senor Palomino, having the advantage of the Irishman in this case, will not give them an operativity to rander him justice.

ed upon the importance of organization for the purpose of increasing their influence and for mutual improvement. We propose now to say something on this subject, and, as the little neighborhood societies called "Farmers' Clubs" form the basic of all organizations which promise to benefit the farmer, we shall first speak of them. The editor of the Ohlo Farmer thus enumprates their advantages:

1. They stimulate the minds of the members, and others also, to activity, and promote habits of attention and observation. Nothing, it is said, so tends to excite attention, and to promote habits of accuto excite attention, and to promote habits of accinrate observation, as frequent meetings for the purpose of making communications, listening to addresses, or participating in discussions. The desire to contribute to the entertainment and instruction of others, and to do one's part respectably in such an association, will open the eyes to facts which else would have been unseen, and prompt to inquiries and comparisons that would not otherwise have been made.

2. As all the members cannot be equally familiar with every branch of farming, those less informed as to any department can learn from those more informed, and the knowledge of all cau be made available

3. Farmers' Clubs awaken a healthy spirit of emnlation. This "is as necessary to most grown persons as it is acknowledged to be to children, and quite as beneficial in agriculture as in science or art. The influence this feeling has on mankind is wonderful; labor, hardship, or expense are borne cheerfully at its promptings; whatever is possible it will accomplish; it is the philosopher's stone transmuting the dull drudgery of daily toil into animating and delightful employment. A few persons, who have an euthusiastic love for agriculture, can work have an euthusiastic love for agriculture, can work away quietly and alone, endeavoring to realize their idea; but, in general, men are apt to settle down in a lazzy slipshod way of doing things, unless stimulated by the hope of being foremost, or spurred on by the dislike of falling behind. But Farmers' Clubs not only excite emulation among the members, but the whole community will soon drink in their spirit and manifest its enlivening effects."

The various beneficial influences which township or smaller clube might be made to exert, by judicious management, of which those above named are among the chief, certainly entitle them to the consideration of all concerned, whether in the State of Ohio or in any other State.

The free discussion of some subject connected with farming, selected with a view to mutual improvement hy a club of intelligent, euterprising farmers, cannot fail to be of great advantage to them. All farmers nearly of the present day read more or less of the agricultural papers; in each neighborhood there are those who read many different papers, but none that read them all. By meeting statedly for discussion, the valuable part of all the information obtained from these papers would be compared, analyzed, and impressed upon the memory, and the chaffy portion be discussed and rejected, and the progress made by farmers in distant parts would be ascertained and improved upon. Information from the different markets would be discussed and the laws of supply and demand be better understood, so that false information published by interested speculators would have less influence on the producer than it has in the absence of such a ready means of correct information as farmers' clubs would afford, for we do not urge their formation as simply isolated bodies, but as a series of mutually supporting corresponding understrata of united interests upon which can and will be built efficient county, State, and national societies; but of this extension of the organization we will speak more fully hereafter.

County agricultural societies would be more efficient if their supporters, the farmers, were organized into clubs. To prove this, we have only to refer to your own county society, if you have one in your county, or to any with which you may be acquainted. Is it not notorious that the tendency is to manage them more with a view to draw large crowds of idlers and fancy men than to advance agricultural interests? Witness the growing tendency to cater to the tastes of fast men and women as displayed in the trial of speed of horses and the ladies' riding rings, which have become so common at these fairs and are so disgusting to the good taste of intelligent farmers, that there is great danger that they will by these and hy similar exhibitions of bad taste be driven from their own peculiar annual festival. These innovations were undonbtedly introduced by a want of proper understanding on the part of the managers of what would promote the true intorests of the fair. It is important, therefore, that the management of county fairs should be in the hands of men of known good taste and judgment identified hy occupation and interest with the farmers they represent. By discussing the affairs of your county society in the neighborhood farmers' clubs, and thus securing unity of action, it will be easy to secure the election of such officers as can be relied upon to carry out the true objects of the society faithfully.

Each county in the State may have some peculiarity in soil or market for produce so as to make it the interest of the farmers of that county to manage differently from the farmers of other sections. One county is eminently calculated, by its peculiarity of soil and distance from a large market, for grazing; there the society can best subserve its ends by engaging in experiments in rearing the different breeds of cattle or other stock to ascertain in which kind lies the most profit to the farmer. Another county lies adjacent to a large city; it is evident that the products of the garden, the orchard, the dairy, and the mechanical department are paramount interests with them. Another may be in a region suited to hogs: another to small grain; another to tobaccoall these interests require to be fostered by the coun ty society; and the only method of giving these societies the peculiar efficacy indicated is hy bringing to bear upon them the wishes of their constituents as brought into force in those primary organizations the farmers' clubs. The influence that farmers could wield is all-controlling, yet their want of aggregate influence is proverbial.

But we have said enough on the subject of the importance of these clubs. We will speak of how they may be made efficient as the basis of more extended organizations. If there were twenty clubs or more in one county, the existence and location, time of meeting, &c., of each should be known to all the others. This could be easily accomplished through the county society, and all intercourse between these clubs could be maintained, either by letter or delegate. When any matter required a unity of action, or when important matters were to be discussed preparatory to action, each club could send a delegate to meet at your county seat, and in this way husiness would be matured and each farmer would be fully represented. Let it be made the duty of the corresponding secretary of each county society to keep a register of the names and locations of each clnh in the county, together with the address of the secretary. At the annual meeting of the county society, let the members of these clubs meet, by representatives or in person, to discuss matters of interest, or read minutes of clubs. say for an hour each day of the fair. In this way the real supporters of the fair would be brought

FARMERS' CLUBS .- But few farmers have reflect into direct connection with lt at each meeting, but with such restrictions as to prevent any direct interference in its management.

We shall speak of the natural connection of counwith State societies in our next number; and in the mean time, we again urge the importance of forming a farmers' club in your neighborhood without delay. Move in it yourself, reader. If you wait for your neighbor to act first, it will never be done, This scheme of thorough organization may seem utopian at this time. It may be long before it can be attained, but the interest of the farmer demands just such an organization in each State, and the first step toward securing it is the formation of farmers' clubs; the next is to secure their coopera-

TILLERING OF GRAIN.-A correspondent of the Farmér's Magazine has been examining into this subject and finds that tillers do not spring from the coronal or upper set of roots, but from the seminal or ower set, and that the former, instead of being essntial, are entirely accidental in their formation. They spring from the first joint or knot, provided hat knot be under the surface of the soil, otherwise no coronal roots are formed. He requests those who hold the commonly received opinion to examine for themselves.

Writers on the subject lay it down as an establishd fact that tillers proceed from the coronal roots invariably, and that the seminal roots cease to furnish nourishment before the grain is formed, and this is the commonly received opinion. The discoverer of the above fact considers it as greatly strengthening the arguments in favor of deep sow ing to secure the formation of coronal roots, for the purpose of giving the plant a firmer hold upon the oil as well as additional nourishment.

We should consider it as offering new field for interesting experiment to decide whether deep planting might not diminish the disposition to tiller, and also in the case of fall grain, whether the freezing and thawing of the surface, while the lower roots are below the influence of the freezing nights and bright sunny days of our winters, may not be the means of violently severing the two series of roots, and thus leaving the plant entirely dependent upon the coronal roots for support. This would seem to account for what we frequently see in grain fields; namely, that after a winter, in which there has been much of such freezing and thawing as tend to freeze "out" clover and other tap-rooted plants, the grain disappoints the expectation of the farmer hy not tillering as usual, and consequently a diminished yield is obtained. We hope observing farmers will experiment upon this point and make known the result.

REVIVAL .- We understand that some twenty-two persons have united with the Methodist church at West Point, under the ministry of Rev. Mr. Baggers of Greenville, assisted by Rev. Mr. Henderson, pastor of the Hancock street church, in this city. The revival has been one of general interest.

INFLUENCE OF CLIMATE ON STOCK .- In estima ting the value to American agriculture of animals imported from Europian countries, we should take account the fact that the climate which prevails in this country is quite different from theirs, even in the same latitude, not so particularly in regard to mean temperature as to extremes of heat and cold, and sudden changes from one to the other. We have warm sunny days in midwinter and cold chilly rains in spring and around, while the heat and drouth of summer are often excessive, and a change from mild to severe in eight colder mouths of the year often takes place in a single night. often takes place in a single night.

Our climate has a strong stimulating effect on the system of the foreign-bred animal, which greatly accelerates the action of the heat, and through that the whole animal economy. The change to man coming here from Great Britain is said to be equal to 15 pulsations a minute over the former rate, and it is inferred that its effect must be equally as great upon the greater domestic animals as their arteries are larger. From the same cause great losses have occurred in driving cattle from the Western States to the Southern markets, and particular care to avoid heat, excitement, and high feeding has been

Without proper care most domestic animals deteriorate when removed to a different climate from that to which they are accustomed. We think the most hardy animals can scarcely endure the sudden most harry animals can expectly entire the sadden changes which mark our winter months, without some effect being produced—either a better adaptasome effect being produced—either a better adaptation for resisting such extremes, or, far more likely, a loss of stamina and vigor. It was observed by the first settlers of this country that "the cows raised from those first imported were very soon found to be smaller than their dams." Arabian horses, imported into England, give birth to a progeny inferior to themselves. Sheep lose their distinctive value, in part, when taken to a warmer climate. It is only after a series of years that any animal becomes perfectly acclimated.

The characteristics of the cattle of warm and cold climates have been contrasted as follows: Cattle of a warm climate have a thin, supple, and oily skin, those of a colder region have their skin thicker, harder, and dryer; the hair of the one is scanty and fine, of the other longer, coarser, and more bushy; the limbs of the one are long, and the teudinous parts distinct, the other is less marked in this; the horns in warm climates are hard, brittle, and dry instead of soft and spongy, and the hoofs have the same distinction; the muscles of the one are dry and lean, while in the other they are strong, close, and supwhile in the other they are strong, close, and sup-plied with fat. In the one the temperament parplied with fat. In the one the temperament par-takes of the sanguinous, in the other it may be char-acterized as lymphatic, suited to its surround-ings, but wanting in the physical activity and ener-gy belonging to the inhalitant of the colder clime. These influences of climate should be taken into onsideration by all who have to do with animals consideration by all who have to do with animals bred in and accustomed to one different from ours. We must try to make the change a gradual one—nor expect the finely organized thorough-bred, from the ever luxuriant pastures of a moist climate like England, to do well npon our drouth-parched fields with the same care which the natives receive. Nor can they be wintered in the same careless way. Taken when young and properly fed and sheltered they will gradually become accustomed to the change, so at least as to bear it without injury. These suggestions and considerations will apply to sheep, swine, and poultry as well. The climate must affect them—it has transformed sturdy, portly John Bull, into thin, active, wiry Brother Jonathan. We are getting animals suited to our uses; the infusion of the best hlood of other countries assists in their production. Farmers should understand, however, all the influences which can help or hinder this result, and this is why we gather for them these can they be wintered in the same careless way result, and this is why we gather for them these scattered hints on the subject.—Rural New Yorker.

THE LOUISVILLE WATER COMPANY.
The citizens of Louisville are very much interested in the above enterprise, consequently there are a few questions that ought to be answered:
Ist. Is it a fact that the Board are about to locate the englue-house on the lands of Jas. Hewitt, Esq., and the reservoir on the lands of Maj. Throckmorton? If so, the citizens would like to know the reasons.
2d. Is it a fact that the Engineer has reported in favor of another site, over one mile nearer the city, and as high as necessary!

3d. Is it a fact that the near site will cost the city some $45,000 less than the other site? $45,000 less than the other site?
And there is one more question, and it is this: Do not the Board know that the citizens of Louisville are tired of being imposed upon as they have been in other improvements in which the city is interested? Do not the Directors know that the grounds selected for the Blind Asylum were selected from the fact that all the Engineers who had made examinations for the location of a reservoir for the waterworks had selected the near site, and the State has donated some $70,000 to said institution? These questions are merely made to ascertain the facts.

THE CHRISTIAN REPOSITORY .- Rev. S. H. Ford conducts in this city a monthly periodical entitled the Christian Repository, which is not only ably edited but most beautifully printed. The January number contains a portrait of the Rev. Jeremiah Vardeman, who, a quarter of a century ago, was the great Baptist evangelist of the West.

A memorial is being extensively circulated in the different cities of the Union, praying Congress to entirely remove the duty on sugar imported, from the great amount of consumption, and the present extraordinary rates of all saccharine matters.
